Post-Graduate Track: Pediatric Comprehensive Hematology/Oncology & Critical Care

Description

The Comprehensive Hematology/Oncology & Critical Care APP Fellowship is a one-year, post-graduate program designed for new graduate advanced practice providers (CRNPs and PAs) at the nationally ranked Riley Hospital for Children at IU Health. The program will offer a comprehensive design with rotations in multiple areas of pediatric specialties.

The fellow will have the opportunity to build on their graduate academic training and to strengthen and develop skills in a variety of domains critical to advance practice. The clinical sites include both inpatient and outpatient experiences caring for a diverse and often complex patient population at Riley Hospital for Children.

The program provides fellows with:

- A solid foundation to build their advanced practice career in the states only nationally ranked children’s hospital in Indiana.
- Comprehensive experience including:
  - Hands-On Learning in specialty clinical areas
  - Didactic Sessions
  - Mentorship
  - Simulation experiences focusing on clinical patient management
  - Case-based learning

Clinical Areas of Rotation – Hematology/Oncology

- General Oncology
- Leukemia/Lymphoma
- Solid Tumor
- Neuro Oncology
- Immunology
- Stem Cell Transplant
- Adolescent & Young Adult
- Fertility Preservation

Clinical Areas of Rotation – Critical Care

- OR & Proceduralist
- Emergency Care
- Telehealth
- Clinical research and quality improvement initiatives
- Clinical Areas of Rotation- Critical Care
- Ventilator management
- Transplant (including liver, kidney, bowel, and multivisceral)
- Chronic ventilator management and care coordination
- ICU care of the trauma patient
- Post-operative Surgical ICU care
- ECMO basis
- Procedures including central line placement, arterial line placement, PICC placement and intubation
- Critical Care research and quality improvement

add your url here
Post-Graduate Track: Pediatric Comprehensive Hematology/Oncology & Critical Care

Outcomes
The outcome of the program is to build confidence and knowledge in pediatric comprehensive hematology/oncology and critical care. The opportunities provided will Strengthen critical thinking, evidenced-based practice, procedural skills and confidence. The APP fellows will be integrated into the team including the ACGME resident training programs.